HON. PERREN BAKER OUTLINES PROPOSED SCHOOL PLAN

HANNA—Hon. Perren Baker, Minister of Education, delivered the feature address at the convention of trustees of the Hanna Education Board recently in this city, and outlined the much-discussed plan providing for larger units of administration. Mr. Baker chose to call his topic "The Problem of Rural Education."

Stating that in his address he would speak to the audience as citizens rather than as trustees, he paid tribute to the teachers for their particular interest in the schools of the province. The problem, in Mr. Baker's opinion, is a threefold one, and is concerned with the provision of a sufficient number of schools, with the division of the burden of supporting them, and with the improvement of the training provided in them. Both elementary and high school education must be provided, and the schools must run full time. The main theme of his remarks, Mr. Baker continued, would be that in respect to the phases of the problem we are not succeeding as well as we should. Equalization grants have been good, inasmuch as since the putting into effect of the policy 30 per cent of the schools have run for eight months or more, as compared with 72 per cent previously, but so long as there were 10 per cent of the schools that get less than eight months of the year in operation, we cannot be said to have solved the problem of running the schools full time.

Reasons For Failure

Reasons for our failure may be attributed partly to lack of money, partly to failure of administration; sometimes school boards are to blame, and sometimes the teacher, as operation may be interfered with through the teacher leaving or through the board terminating a contract. The problem of secondary education is not solved. Few one-room schools are justified in handling it. The rural high schools are another attempt to handle the situation, but the idea is not spreading fast enough. It is difficult to induce four or five school boards to co-act to get the formation of the necessary districts, because of local differences of opinion. Little hope for the immediate solution of the problem appeared to lie in this direction.

The speaker proceeded to analyze the reasons for the rural school being unable to attract and hold good teachers. Smallness of pay, uncertainty of tenure, difficulties with trustees, etc., resulted in short tenure of office by the teacher. The constant turn-over drains the rural teaching force as a whole of its best material. Immunity of teachers and lack of supervision prevent the schools from doing what they might be. We are forced to agree with this opinion, which is general.

Most of these weaknesses are inherent in the system now in vogue. With 2000 school boards in the province, and 2000 teachers seeking positions, we cannot have any salary scale, any promotion, any security of tenure, any continuity, or any real supervision. We cannot use any intelligence in the placing of teachers, who must be put in many different places as the pupils, for the choice of teachers made as a result of battles of applications is rather a random affair. Equalization with 2000 districts is another thing our system lacks. We have inherited the system, which was not designed to fit modern conditions.

What is the Remedy?

Is there any remedy? asked the minister of education. Yes, he went on, and it is to be found in the larger unit of administration. The present school districts will be retained, but grouped into divisions of about 120 each. The same electors who elect school trustees will elect a divisional board, and each of these boards, of which there will be twenty in the province, will be divided into five wards. All powers will be retained by the old school districts except the placing of the teacher. The election of the district representative could take place at the annual meeting of the school districts. The divisional board would engage the teachers and superintendent for each division, with possibly two helping teachers. The superintendent would make recommendations for the staffing of the schools, and if any teacher or local school board should feel dissatisfied, representations to the divisional board would be made.

As regards the financing of the scheme, each board will have its own budget, or possibly the province as a whole. If the divisional board is the unit, it will be responsible for setting the salary schedule; if the whole province, there will have to be a general board. Mr. Baker states that he personally favors making the province as a whole unit, as it will have the advantage of making it possible to equalize salaries, of giving stronger borrowing powers to each division, and of preventing local conditions, such as drought or crop failure, from affecting the whole.

Advantages of Plan

The advantages may be as follows: There will be no short-term schools, teachers' salaries will be regular, a salary schedule will be possible, which will recognize scholarship, experience and efficiency, the burden of costs will be equated, secondary education will be developed by the extension of further high schools at the intermediate points, and teaching will be a better job. The proposed system will take the measures designed to improve conditions.

Headlights of Address

Mr. Baker went on to say: "In this province the state says who may teach—the Board may employ only certain people who qualify. The board cannot use the taxpayers' money for other things than the funds prescribed. Further, the state says what kind of books be used and the hours school should operate. The state says how far the where there is a school district and children to educate, they must run 10 months in a year and must pay a minimum salary. Now there is going to be a step further. We have not beyond the period of local opinion in education. You must run him or her at the age of seven years, and keep them going until fifteen years of age unless you go through all the steps before that time and you must run your school ten months whether you have money or not—the law says to pay, no wana wana wana."

"No community is a fit place to live in where there is no standard intelligent of our children, and we must realize the power that each nation is endowed with. We have accepted the international view of education. In this province we have a division of authority. Now I have tried to state the difficulty in our present situation. We are not getting so good results as

THE DEATH OF MRS. WILLIAM SAAR

On Sunday, after an illness of over a year's duration, the death took place of Mrs. William Saar, aged 70 years. She and her husband arrived in Strathmore district nineteen years ago.

The late Mrs. Saar is survived by her husband and a son, W. C. in Saskatchewan, H. J. and R. F. in Minnesota, Arthur in Montana, Alfred and Lloyd in Alberta, and four daughters, Mrs. H. McLaughlin, Mrs. E. McLaughlin, Mrs. Shultz and Mrs. Merriam, all of whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

The funeral services will be conducted at the home by the Rev. J. N. Wilkinson on Thursday, at 1:30 p.m., after which the funeral will be directed by C. W. Chase to the Strathmore Cemetery, where the interment will take place.

ASSAULT CASE DISMISSED

At Strathmore on Tuesday, before Messrs. Lambert and Riddon, J. P.s, Quon Kay, of the Hot Cafe, Carleton Place, was charged with assaulting Henry Deines, of Carleton Place, a boy of 11, by kicking him in the right ribs with his boot on Sunday, the 18th inst.

Evidence was led at considerable length, the case lasting three hours. The evidence of the boy was to the effect that he and three companions were sitting around the stove of the Cafe late on Sunday night, when Quon Kay ordered them out, and that while outside the Cafe the Chinaman kicked him in the ribs. Three companions, John Deines and Joe Gilles, testified to the same effect.

Quon Kay, testifying on his own behalf, swore that he did not kick the boy, and that the boy fell on the sidewalk after holding the door of the Cafe to prevent the Chinaman shutting it. This evidence was corroborated by Quon Kay, a waiter.

The Magistrates found that the prosecution had failed to make out a case, and dismissed the accused. Constable Wallace prosecuted, and T. M. Wears, Barrister, defended.

BAINFREE

BAINFREE U.F.W.A.

The Baintree U.F.W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Oscar Quon on Wednesday, November 7th. The day was fine, and the attendance splendid. It was in every way one of the best meetings we have had in our history. After the usual business routine several matters were brought before the meeting. Incidentally the Roll Call for the month of November was "What Are We Thankful For?"

The annual turkey supper for December was discussed. A series of short plays are to be put on through the winter, and were also discussed, and Mrs. W. A. Lyons and Mrs. E. Ross appeared as managing committee.

Mrs. Colbert sang an old favorite, "My Irish Irish Rose," very acceptably, and the meeting adjourned.

Lunch was served at five, and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

I think we ought to get, although the schools have improved. Now I want to hear of you. (Continued on page three)

SCHOOL FAIR EXCELLENT REPORT

The School Fair meeting was held on Monday in the Strathmore High School building.

The financial statement, which was presented, was exceedingly satisfactory.

Hon. George Headley and R. R. Stockton were elected Honorary Free Agents, and the executive of last year were again elected.

Messrs. Headley, Cowher and Watson were appointed a committee in regard to those on irrigated and non-irrigated lands taking part.

It was decided that all school work secretary must be placed with the secretary before June 30.

Messrs. McKenzie, Hunter and Evans were appointed a committee to examine the quality and uniformity of maps to be exhibited.

The subject selected for the Scholastic Cup competition was: "What Good Citizenship Means to Me."

The matter of forming a Fig and Calf Club was left in the hands of Messrs. Riddon, McKay, French and Riddon.

The question of holding a two-day fair was discussed, and this will be done next year if all possible.

A very heavy vote of thanks was extended to Mr. McKay and Mr. Springthorpe in appreciation of their very efficient work in financing the fair of 1928.

The work of the ladies in providing refreshments was praised, and a heavy vote of thanks passed in recognition of their good work.

The funds of the association are in excellent shape, and the outlook for 1929 is most encouraging to all those who have given as freely of their time and ability in advancing the work of the Strathmore School Fair, which has now reached the position of being acknowledged among the best in the province.

GASOLINE CONSUMPTION

STEADILY INCREASING

Sale of gasoline in Alberta for the first ten months of 1928 has exceeded by some 6,000,000 gallons the sales in any previous year, according to figures issued by the Department of the Provincial Secretary. This increased consumption is attributed to the increasing use of tractors, grain trucks and combined harvesters in the province as well as the increased number of automobiles licensed during the year.

CURLING CLUB'S SUCCESSFUL BANQUET HELD LAST WEEK

The Strathmore Curling Club held its annual general meeting and banquet on Friday, November 23rd, in the Memorial Hall, over one hundred being present, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all who were fortunate enough to gain admission.

The evening was divided into three parts: first, the general meeting and election of officers, from 8 p.m. to 7 p.m.; second, the banquet, songs, speeches and presentation of cups from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.; and finally the dance from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m.

At the general meeting, which was presided over by President E. N. Riddley, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and the financial statement was then given, showing a substantial sum on hand after all accounts had been paid. A comparison of expenditures for the past six years was read, and an estimate of running the club for season of 1929-30 was given, which showed a probable cut in the running cost of some $200.

After a short discussion on the subject of ice nominations for President were called, Mr. E. N. Riddley, Mr. Wm. Gray and Mr. Fred Col were nominated, and on the withdrawal of the former two, Mr. Col was declared elected, and the following by acclamation: Vice-President, M. S. Hirtle, and Executive, M. A. Bellinger, D. A. Perry, R. Brown and Wm. Gray.

A very fine supper was arranged by the lady curlers, and the hall was decorated by them in the Club's colors, red, white and black, and green, and it was then for their efforts again delighted their audience.

God Save the King was sung, and dancing commenced at 10 p.m. The orchestra, consisting of Mrs. Hirtle, Miss Hughes and Miss Polk taking turns at the piano, J. Gannon, sax, E. Douglas, banjo, and Miss Barry, drums, acquitted themselves, and have seldom been heard to better advantage. Everyone was delighted with the music playing.

Altogether it was a most successful evening in every way, and the Strathmore curlers wish to thank most heartily all those who helped to make it so.

ORANGEMEN CHOOSE MONTREAL

WINNIFPEG—The 1929 convention of the Grand Orange Lodge of America will be held in Montreal, it was announced, following a meeting of executive officers. The season will open on June 26, 1929. SPORT NOTES

CANADIAN AMATEUR UNION

MONTREAL—Dirty linen is hanging on the line in Canadian Amateur Athletic circles. H. E. Herschorn, president of the Canadian Swimming Association, assailed President P. J. Mulqueen, Bobby Robinson, team manager, and Bobby Korte, team captain. Herschorn accused some of the delegates to Amsterdam of lacking in courtesy, and acting as buffoons aboard the boat. His strong condemnation of the team management and declaration that only three were necessary to handle the team caused an uproar.

Herschorn lashed out at the committee as a whole and only excluded J. S. Lamb from his attack. But Mulqueen of Toronto leaped to the attack, and replied to Herschorn in as virulent a strain, and Bobby Robinson of Hamilton, in a long and exhausting defense of everything pertaining to Hamilton, attacked Dr. Lamb, Herschorn and the Montreal men behind the Herschorn charges and did not forget to tell what he had accomplished in regard to the team. Lou Marsh, of Toronto, one of the reflected glory boys, also jumped into the fray, and spilled a lot of ink as sailing Herschorn.

This is all a prelude to a battle at the A. A. U. of C. meeting at Port Arthur that is expected to smolder that body. The old city of Toronto dominates in rallying a host of opponents to the Montreal standard. They don't care about the charges and counter charges but are aping for a fight and the athletic oligarchy in Toronto—the little coterie that has handled all the plums in the past—is going against itself opposition this time that is going to disturb its tenure of office.

With the west clamoring for the mingling of professionals and amateurs, marshalling forces to annoy the eastern manfaring, a pleasant time is going to be had by all. The man on the street who regards the whole amateur situation with suspicion is all for a clean sweep, anyway. In the meantime, Canadian athletes, who were over with the Olympic team, who are chafing at the amateurism brought to the overlord of the sport who basked in their glory.

EARL JR. DEAD

CARTHAGE, Ill.—Earl Jr., 29, the grey racing sensation of years ago, succumbed at the home of his owner, Charles H. Altier, here. He was 23 years old.

The horse was once raced by the famous Grand Circuit and was ridden by R. Cox. His career proved one of the most brilliant in racing annals. He made 130 starts, won 58, was second to times, third 16, fourth 6, and unplaced on only nine occasions. He won the huge sum of $42,651.

Earl Jr., although given little opportunity as a sire, was represented by the fast performer, Calgary Earl, 203½. He was bred by Charles E. Cameron of La Crosse, Wis. Earl was owned by Sam H. Rowe of Calgary and Lyalla.

BENNETT VOLO SOLD TO FAMOUS TURFMAN

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—W. R. Neill of Memphis, who formerly owned and managed the exhibitions of the fastest trotter in history, Peter Manning, 1:56½, has acquired a promising stake trotter for 1929. He is Bennett Volo, a four year old son of Peter Volo, 2:02. Neill purchased the horse from Murray Bailey, of Louisville, Ky., for a reported price of $7,500.

Bennett Volo was a much sought after performer when he first finished lapped on Hollywood Collin, 2:02, leading stake trotter of the year, at Lexington, Ky., where the final Grand Circuit meeting of the season was staged. And Neill appears to be lucky in beating out others for the horse.

To show that his race at Lexington was not fluff in the pan, Bennett Volo turned in three heats in 2:10, 2:08, 2:08 over the half-mile course at Greensboro, N.C., with Billy Hodson, the Hartford, Conn., reinsman, doing the driving.

HATCH PAYS "COPS"

AT WHITNEY'S SALE
LEXINGTON—Thirty-four mares from the Harry Payne Whitney sale were sold for a total of $17,100 at the stable's first public auction, held today at the Whitney Farm, near here. The prices ranged from $200 up to $12,500, with an average of $500. Penitent, by Pennant-Herbert, out of Broadmild, brought the top bid. The daughter of the only filly ever to win the Kentucky Derby was sold to H. C. Hatch, of Toronto, Ont., for $12,500.

COBB WANTS BALTIMORE

Tyrus Cobb cables from Japan, where he is barnstorming with an all star major league baseball team, requesting the executor of the estate of Jack Dunn to await his return from the Orient in order that he may bid on the purchase of this high-franchise, players and parts. Cobb expects to reach San Francisco within the next two weeks. With Tyra Speaker managing Newark and Cobb at the head of the Baltimore club, the International League would witness some samples of fiery aggressiveness.

FLYWEIGHT STAR HAS NEW MANAGER

PHILADELPHIA—Midget Wolgast, holder of the Pennsylvania State Flyweight Championship, has a new manager. And, as a result of the recent United States Presidential election, the contract of this high-franchise little boxer did not cost the new manager a cent.

Jimmy Kelly replaces Al Lippe as manager of Wolgast. Prior to the election he had been offered the contract for $5,000. He wanted to take the deal, but could not spare the money. So Kelly asked his friend, Jack Dempsey, to lend him the $5,000. Dempsey, who regards Wolgast very highly, wanted Kelly to see to it that he offered a different proposition. He knew Lippe as a strong supporter of Al Smith, and said: "Tell Lippe you will give him $10,000 if the contract if Smith is elected, providing he turns over the boxer to you free of charge if Hooper wins the election." Lippe agreed, and Jimmy Kelly is now the manager of Midget Wolgast.

Wolgast has a great record, and is a serious threat to the world's flyweight champion, Frank Genie.

GENIE MAY WIN

Genie will be the main hope of the Cochran stable in the tenth Coffsouth handicap, a gallop of one mile and a quarter, for three-year-olds and over, that will have an added money value of $100,000 March 17 next, across about $125,000, and pay its winner about $110,000. McDaniel, who campaigned the stable of Commander J. K. L. Rose of Montreal, at Tijuana three winners, winning a Coffsouth handicap in 1927 with Rebelle and a Tijuana Derby in 1928 with the Maryland bred colt, Doc Thought, holds that Genie is the best horse that will ever have been pointed for a Coffsouth. There are not many who will dispute this theory, although earlier Coffsouths have attracted such names as Ogrey, Runstar, Cherry Tree, Little Chief, Calgary, Prince of Doves, Sir Harry, Justice P, Dangerous, etc.

Genie makes Big Hit
Genie made a big hit with patrons of Metropolitan racing in June and July when he won renewals of the Dwyer stakes at Aqueduct and Empire City Derby at Yonkers. He has won the Dixie he has defeated the smartest horses three years old and up to date have appeared all across the country. He is going to Tijuana sound of wind and limb and ready to race almost immediately.

MADE HALF A MILLION

NEW YORK—Although the numerous hold-outs in hockey this year were not wholly successful, compromises and the big stick forcing the players to sign at considerably below their original demands, the average salary in the major league has been boosted many dollars.

An estimate made by one close to the National League places the average salary this year at $5,000, which is somewhat more than the baseball players average, but the ball players have the real edge on the big money, as there are none to compare with Babe Ruth, Dizzy Vance, Rogers Hornsby and Lou Gehrig.

"Dunc" Moore, of Toronto, was considered the highest-paid hockey player last year, drawing down $9,000 for his services, but he has been edged in a position to earn money on the side that makes Ruth's princely salary of $70,000 look small and what is more he has saved away $500,000 which exceeds Ruth's accumulation, by many, many thousands, because of the dishonesty which the Bambino showed until recently in juggling up a reserve.

Such an accumulation by any one other than Moore would be looked upon with suspicion, for it would be argued how could he do it on $9,000 per. But Moore's hockey affiliations put him in touch with men who let him in on the ground floor in some highly profitable Canadian invest-

While Monroe is well fixed, some of the clubs are not. The increased salary roll and other added overhead expenses mean that they must take in considerably more this year than previously. HON. PERREN BAKER OUTLINES PROPOSED SCHOOL PLAN to point out as briefly as I can, and I will try to have in mind that you have been here a long while, what I think might be done. I think there are certain functions which can be performed by the local district board better than by any other means. There are certain functions by a process of nature that must be performed by the state. The standard for teachers is a general law. Now, in my judgment, there is in between these two a necessity for performing certain functions which cannot well be performed by the local district board, and which cannot be performed by the provincial authority, but we have no intermediate authority between these two to do these certain things. I have spoken of the function while that might be done by the province, since the local districts cannot do it, they may have some help there to be as they increase in quality. Some local districts cannot run on their own resources, and in the matter of high school education the local district does not make provision in many instances for secondary education. In most rural districts there are pupils who never make a secondary grade or, if they are, the teacher cannot handle higher grades and devote her time to the lower ones.

Improvement in Quality
"We come to the question of improving the quality of teaching. We need a system whereby the unit teacher will be eliminated and simply not passed from one local district to another every year. Until we can establish a system which will make rural teaching a job that amounts to something, and that bright young men will select it, we are up against something the local board cannot do by the very nature of the case. Now where this problem has been faced, and it has been faced in many districts, they have come to this conclusion, that in order to bring about necessary salary schedule and make teaching more attractive and get the best teachers in our rural schools, we need the large area of administration."
The Larger Unit
"I will undertake to talk about ways in which this might be done, that has been done in New Zealand, and that I think would be feasible in this province. We will begin right where we are—that where we have on the local school district it should be retained. There are certain reasons why it can not be done away with. It is desirable that each district have trustees required to keep up duties that no one else in the world is so well placed to look after—the requirements of the building, heating, new chimney, play grounds, and make the school a fit building to study in."
"Now it comes to choice of teachers. I ask you as I ask myself, is a former trustee, how did we go about getting a teacher. Well we advertised and we got a bunch of letters, and we read them and got down several we thought suitable, and we decided, as far as we could tell, that we would take a chance on the one who wrote this letter. We had not seen her, and no doubt we would be surprised when we did see her. We dug down and brought up one—all right, send her along and trust in God she would be good. We did not do so badly. We were absolutely helpless, however, and the tendency is for the district needing the teacher to see the inspector and have him find us a teacher. Then again, in that system we did not get teachers that were suited to that particular school, and we could make children to them. Teachers are not all alike—there are round teachers and square holes, and when you draw like that you are just as apt to get a square one for a round as you are to get a round one for a square hole! In it goes just the same.

"Now there is many a teacher who has been ruined by getting into the wrong school to start. Here is a girl with fine earnestness and good home training behind her, and her scholarship is all right too, but she gets into a school where there are two or three other boys who think they are ready to do man's jobs. They are so full of fun and show and this girl they are men, too. Now these boys are right in their way, and that teacher is right, but the combination is disastrous, and that girl may be ruined. That school should have got a man about the size of 2 foot, and with stability, common sense and kindness; just an able man who would put them in their places, would have brought those boys right along. We cannot, in our present system, bring any degree of intelligence to bear on the great important task of fitting the teacher for each school.

"Suppose we group these individual rural districts into groups of 150, call it a division, and they elect a divisional board. Divide divisions into five wards, five members on the divisional board, and once a year the division meets and at a certain hour each rural school sends one accredited delegate, and as many more people as want to go, and at a certain advertised hour the delegates are segregated according to wards. The delegates elect for the position for members of a divisional board, then at the annual school meeting of the local district, the ratepayer has placed before him the ballot, with names of nominees to put up as trustees, and every ratepayer votes on these names to elect a representative for the divisional board to represent the ward. The divisional board, that is the members of the local boards who are the delegates to the divisional meeting once a year, nominate those who are to be voted on for the divisional board. All the ratepayers vote on that, so that your divisional board is elected by all people, just the same as the rural board is, and each division has its superintendent, a man of the calibre of our inspectors, and each superintendent has a couple of assistants.

"If there are 150 schools in a division, I would say that each superintendent and assistants could supervise 50 rural schools. The divisional board will have the final say and have the authority which says finally what teachers are to teach in the various schools to the end of September. Your superintendent, having in mind the things characteristic of the school and whether the true ones or the people there want the teacher they have got to continue, or whether the trustees say the local teacher should be changed—having in mind whether the local teacher wants to stay or go—makes up his mind whether it is wise to retain that teacher in that school or change. Then on a certain date along in August, there is a date fixed when the divisional board is going to meet to settle this, the head of the school board goes to it with the satisfaction of knowing that the teacher he is recommending for his school is obtainable at the moment.

"If the school board objects, they must have representations to be made to the divisional board at this fixed time, and the superintendent gives his reasons, and the divisional board, which is elected by all the people of that division comprising the 150 school districts, say what is going to be done in those schools. Now the reason for that is this: your divisional board can institute a salary schedule which will give some recognition to the experience, education and scholarship of the teacher. Your divisional board, with the assistance of its superintendent and two assistants, can with some degree of intelligence, place teachers in schools, which would be better than under the chance practice which we are following now. Rich assistants will largely do away with the hopping about of teachers, because with the 20 divisions of the province, teachers can move within the division, only if the divisional board, acting with the advice of, in conjunction with, and when the superintendent says want the proper money, and if teacher wants to teach some place else, he or she has 19 other positions for rural schools, and a teacher who has no place to hop to. hand, the teacher is going to receive a large degree of protection from the unjustifiable termination of contracts, and often this is done not entirely in the interest of the district. The teacher is going to be removed to a considerable extent from the little local quarrels that come up in every district and that are some of the things that make teaching not such a desirable job. The ladies will get jealous of one another, or the men will, and somehow they take it out on the teacher. I have known districts where they were divided into two sides, and if the teacher went to board in a family by one side, everyone was against it, and if she boarded on the other side they were also against her.

Finance
"For financing, I think everyone who studies the rural question comes to the conclusion that a large administration is the only possible way out of some of these weaknesses which are just naturally inserted in our system. We are confronted now with a further problem that shall be the need of taxing. Now there are two alternatives which present themselves when we have decided, we believe, in the interest of all, we have decided the larger unit of administration and that is, what shape the unit of taxing should take. It is possible to make the unit of taxing an area comprising all rural school districts of the province. In that scheme there would have to be a provincial board. Now that board could very well be elected by taking the chair of each one of your elected divisional boards, making a provincial board of twenty. If we made one taxing area, then the function of the provincial board, which would be composed of, say, the chairman of representative of each divisional board, directly a matter of ratepayers, the function of this board would be the leaving of rate over to the rural districts sufficient to pay salary of the teachers and I would say assistant superintendents. Whoever is responsible for setting the mill rate must naturally say how much they are going to pay teachers.

Alternative
"The other alternative is that each divisional board would be that a taxed area, that is, 20 divisions in the province, 150 local divisions in each division, are financed. If this divisional board in the one case with one taxed area you will set up a provincial board composed of one man to each twenty boards. In the other case, if you have each division a taxing area, you don't need that provincial board if each division sets up its own salary schedule and determines the amount of money that must be raised for the financing of those salaries. In another case, the proper money, and if teacher wants to teach some place else, he or she has 19 other positions for rural schools, and a teacher who has no place to hop to. On the other collecting machinery required to set up into effect another one of these schemes for financing the teacher's salary. In another case the local school board determines how much money it needs for fuel, painting, school house, cleaning, well and repairs to chimney or whatever it wants to do in the way of improving property—have a requisition of this money either from the municipality or from the divisional board, whichever might be decided. Your divisional board would decide how much money it needs, and if the division, was the taxing area, the division board would then indicate to each municipal secretary how much money it wanted. The tax would be collected through the machinery now in existence, every man would get an eye notice as he goes to the municipality. Now, if the tax is collected by the school tax, it would be no secretaries to handle teachers' salaries. If we adopted the scheme of one tax area the divisional board would then determine what amount of money it determined to take care of this area. From the one provincial board of the one area, all the teachers' salaries would go out every month. There would be no need to bond people all over to handle teachers' money, for salary would be paid promptly. Each division would simply send in its time sheets to the provincial board, and they would find "Mary Jones" on their list and find that she is entitled to so much money and her cheque goes out and there is no local trouble about paying the teacher."

IN THE ESTATE OF ELBERT ROSS SPARKS,

Late of Rossburg, Alberta, Farmer, Decedent.

NOTICE is hereby given to all persons having claims upon the estate of the above named Elbert Ross Sparks, who died on the 14th day of September, 1929, to file with the undersigned solicitor by the 15th day of January, 1930, a full statement duly verified of their claims or of any securities held by them, and after that date the administratrix will distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which notice has been so filed or which have been brought to her knowledge.

Dated this 26th day of November, 1929.

J. B. McGuire, Rockyford, Alberta, Solicitor for the Administratrix.

ROSEBUD

Miss Anna Clark has returned from Rochester, Minn., where she has been nursing the past two years for the Mayo Bros.

A number of the young people motored to Calgary Wednesday to see the Gryo Club play.

Mrs. A. E. Vigar entertained the Ladies Bridge Club on Wednesday evening, four takes being played. Prizes went to Mrs. O. G. Engstrom, Mrs. J. Sangster and Mrs. Dunsmore. After a dainty luncheon served by the hostess, Mrs. Vigar presented Mrs. Dunsmore with a pyrex plate and holder in behalf of the Club. It is with regret the club bids Mrs. Dunsmore farewell, and wish her all kinds of good luck in their new home.

The Bazaar under the auspices of the Rosebud United Church Ladies Aid on Friday night was well patronized. As usual the "Lucky Draw" held the crowd. Ben Wilshaw won a dressed pig and a goose. W. Crowe won the sheep. At $20 an entertainment was given by little Miss Joan Mayhoid, of Calgary as reader, and musical selections by the Gilbert Orchestra of Rockyford interspersed by talent of our own. A little more than $3000 net was made. The Aid wish to thank all who so kindly gave their best to make the affair such a success.

The Hymas boys are on a hunting trip up the Highwood. Mrs. W. B. Hymas is in Calgary while the boys are away.

The Chautauques at Rockyford and Standard were well patronized by Rosebuddites.

Mrs. W. E. Hymas came from Calgary Friday to attend the Bazaar, returning with Mr. Hymas on Saturday to Calgary, where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lees were Calgary visitors last week.

Rev. Dr. Kirby, principal of Mount Royal College, was here Sunday conducting services at the United Church.

In the morning he talked to the young people, and in the evening he preached a most interesting and instructive sermon on: "There Came a Woman". The Church was well filled. On December 9th, Rev. Labor will conduct the services, and on December 23rd, Rev. Dr. Powell will be here again.

A correction in an item of last week regarding the Skating Club dance, should read: "A lantern purchased by the club of the Rosebud Mercantile Co., Ltd., instead 'donated by the Rosebud Mercantile Co.'"

ROCKYFORD

The Ladies Club met at the home of Mrs. H. A. Rupp, Tudor, on November 22nd. Mr. J. B. McGuire, Barrister, gave a very interesting talk on "Wills".

Mrs. R. S. Frayne, formerly of Rockyford, was visiting old friends last week.

Don't forget the Basket School and Dance on Friday night, November 30. Girls, don't fail to bring a basket and make this dance a real success. Under the auspices of the Rockyford Ladies' Association.

The Shower and Dance which was held last Friday night in honor of Mr.

and Mrs. Herman Stinn, was well attended. Mr. and Mrs. Stinn were the recipients of many useful and lovely gifts.

Mr. Bill Ruld left on Sunday night for Shelby, Montana, on a business trip.

If you want to hear a real program come to the Bazaar, Super and Concert on December 6th. A treat is in store for you.

Have you voted for your Favorite Queen yet? Get your tickets early.

Mr. Hobson of Bow Island is a visitor this week at R. L. Stone's.

The Annual Bazaar of the United Church Ladies Aid will be held in the Hall on Thursday, December 6th, with a chicken supper in the evening. A splendid play and programme are being prepared under the direction of Mrs. Stoen. Come and enjoy a real time. The Carnival Queen contest starts are busy selling tickets and putting up votes. Get your tickets early, and help your favorite get the extra votes before Monday, December 2nd.

V. M. GILBERT, Minister

SUPERVISORY UNITS

—O—

The Educational Committee of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance asks: "What system might be introduced in this Province to provide adequate supervision of schools? The question arises because it is generally recognized that the present system of inspection of schools can hardly hope to solve to any extent the problem of helpful supervision to teachers."

The suggestion has been thrown out that the rural school board be abolished, local control eliminated and the whole system handled directly by the Department of Education which would place the teachers and pay them, appoint and direct all supervising officers as at present the case with the inspectors of the schools. The wisdom of such an undertaking is very gravely open to question. In the first place, centralized system of administration are out of harmony with Anglo-Saxon ideals; we resist intuitively the placing the whole system of government in any one agency. The whole trend throughout the English-speaking world is to give individuals, groups of individuals or communities a chance to be progressive. Highly centralized systems of education (e.g. the French are the most lifeless and stereotyped in the world today). It may be a wonderful gesture for the minister in charge of education to be able to say: "I can tell you what is going on in every school in this country at every moment of the day," but it is too beautiful when things are fashioned in too perfect a mould. Especially is this true of education, because the vital elements of individual initiative, emulation, and competition are all crushed out and everybody is subordinated to the same standard of mediocrity. Education cannot thrive properly in such an atmosphere. If one of its primary aims is to be to train self-respecting individuals with initiative, courage and dignity, it cannot be done unless the teacher emanates initiative, courage, freedom and dignity.

It is submitted that this province be divided into areas sufficiently large to establish a fair and equitable system of taxation, taking into account the presence of rivers, mountain ranges and other natural features. Each area so created (call it a county) would have its own school board and appoint its own teachers and superintendents; with the power of government over which the Department of Education might have rather broad discretionary powers of control. The teachers would be paid by the county, and the teaching force throughout the country, working in sympathy and co-operation with and under the guidance of specialists. The system of supervision would then really supplement the work of normal schools and each unit would have an incentive to raise its schools to the highest possible degree.

In Great Britain, in many parts of the United States, there are county units which vary greatly in size and number of schools under their control. It is where the strong form of county control exists with some degree of independence that the teaching service is best performed. It is here obviously, where the best systems of supervision prevail and it is generally recognized that no way of improving the teaching service in rural districts with so little expense has been devised. The quality of instruction for pupils more rapidly to effective supervision than to any other agency.

WAR WIDOWS' GRANT

AND RELICS STOLEN

ST. THOMAS—A story of misplaced friendship and perverted charity was unfolded in Police Court when William May, aged 25, pleaded guilty to robbing a war widow who, with her brother, had given him an honored place in the home, however though he was.

On Saturday, the widow, Mrs. Nellie Gaymer, placed part of her widow's allowance in a small box which also contained relics and a few small coins. Later in the day she found this box and some of the coins had been taken; Trace traced May to a shoe store and found that he had used some of the money to pay a 2-year-old account. A constable also learned that the man had used one of the stolen coins to buy a puppy from a tigger and had placed a silver coin on the Salvation Army collection plate. The coins are being returned to Mrs. Gaymer. Magistrate Maxwell remanded May to jail for sentence.

MINISTER DISCUSSES BIG CROP

—O—

OTTAWA—Wheat prices should be well maintained despite the heavy crop, Hon. W. R. Meadowcroft, minister of agriculture, stated.

"The protein content of Canadian wheat this year is so far superior to that of the last two years that the tendency should be against any sagging in prices despite the enormous crop," Mr. Meadowcroft said. "The grain is now on the rollers of the British mills, and the excellent quality is apparent despite the lower technical grading."

Grading of wheat by protein content will again come before the agricultural committee at the next session, it was stated. A great deal of technical evidence had been given the committee last session and a further investigation would be made, although the evidence indicated that the new method of grading might define the essential value of the grain more accurately. No legislation was in view until the matter had been gone into further. Tests along this line were also being made by the Saskatchewan government, Mr. Meadowcroft stated.

SOME OTHER PEOPLE

The turn of the Chinese policeman's lip seems to indicate that he could snarl out a very nasty "Where'd you think you're going?" if he thought you would understand him, but passengers on the Canadian Pacific World Cruise last year found that the man with the pouting, hairy head-pour they were greeted at the entrance of the famous Stadium at Athens by the fiery-mustachioed guard who looks like Harry Lauder in a combination of the worst features of the Highland, the Dutch and the hoarse advertisement national costumes.

But the Japanese practicing on the saxophone's ancestor takes the cake when it comes to strange head-gear. A pun could be made here about "wicker" and "wicked-looking," but let that pass. The dark representative of the fair sex evidently believes in simplicity of costume—and economy! She has made her "robe de style" serve for her "nightgown," and her head dress! Permanent waves have probably been amongst the old family secrets handed down from mother to daughter for centuries in her country.

Taking them altogether they are a fair sample of strange sights to be viewed on a trip round the world. The Canadian Pacific has organized six winter cruises this year. Round the World by the "Empress of Australia," South America-Africa by the new 20,000-ton "Duchess of Atholl," Mediterranean by the "Empress of Scotland" and three cruises to the once happy hunting grounds of the buccannier—the West Indies.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Henry and Maud were out driving when the car hit a bump and skidded. "Oh, Henry," gasped Maud, "two hands!"

"Can't," says Henry, grimly. "Gotta drive with one!"

Gertie: "Gee, I'm out of luck. I've lost my compact."

Flo: "Here, use mine."

Gertie: "But I had my bathing suit in it."

Old Gentleman: "Mr. Brown, I be lieve? My grandson is working in your office."

Brown: "Oh, yes. He went to your funeral last week."

"Was your wife surprised when you came home so early?"

"I'll say she was, and so was the guy with her."

"I wonder if that old fat girl is trying to flirt with me?"

"No, but I can easily find out by asking her—she's my wife."

During the Bible lesson the teacher was trying to explain the parable of "The Tares." "Can any of you tell me any person who is like the evil one who sowed the tares?" she said.

A little hand lazily shot up from the back of the class.

"Well, Tommy," she said, "what person is like the evil one?"

"Please, ma'am?" replied Tommy, "my mother."

"Why?" asked the teacher, in astonishment.

"Because," answered the boy, eyeing his patched nickers, "she sows tears."

"Gosh, Ma," said Willie as he ran in the house, "you should have heard what the deacon said this morning when he had a blow out!"

"What did he say?" asked his mother, and then added, "But you mustn't repeat my swear words."

"Heck, Ma," said Willie, "if I do that—he didn't say nothin'."

An Englishman, Irishman and Scotchman died, and in due course each reached the Pearly Gates and asked for admission. The Scotchman was refused entrance, the only reason given, he was a good man on earth, was that they couldn't make "mush" for one.

"Waiter, what did I order?"

"Ham and eggs, sir."

"Why, so I did. Let me compliment you on your memory."

Maid (to lady of the house): "We won't be long without electric light, now, mum; I've just seen the men fixing the incubators on the poles."

"I'd like to take this chrysanthemum home," sighed the young thing to her boy friend, "that you know I've moved into a small apartment."

They were on their honeymoon and after telling her of the many affairs he had had in his wild youth, he suddenly asked if anyone had ever made love to her before.

"Well," she told him, "I once went canoe riding with a fellow and after we got 'way down river he said he would drown us both if I didn't kiss him."

"Did you kiss him?" asked the woman.

"Well, I wasn't drowned."

"Mose, dey is one preachah dat's powful angry at me tonight."

"How come?"

"Ah done hired him to p'farm de obsequies at mah weddin', and 'Ah didn't show up."

Millionaire (to some of his proteges): "I owe all my success to only one thing. Pluck, just pluck."

Sarcastic Questioner: "How do you find the right people to pluck?"

The flapper was showing her maiden aunt about the city and stopped for lunch in a Bohemian cafe. As soon as they were seated the flapper pulled out a package of cigarettes, lit one and offered the pack to aunt. Aunt was horrified.

"Why, Mabel," she gasped, "I'd sooner kiss a strange man."

"Heck, you wouldn't," said Mabel, "but where'll we find one?"

Aunt Het says: "A mother loves all of her children alike, but I reckon she feels a little tender towards the one she spansks the most."

Groom: "The trouble with you is you don't want a man for a husband."

Bride: "No, dear, all I want is you."

"I could never figure out why Scotchmen stick to short skirts until 'Pat' told me it's because trousers sometimes give at the knees."

A travelling salesman from Glasgow was standing in a Belfast street watching the sights, when a hand came round the corner, playing for dear life. The day was hot and the handmen had their coats off.

Having no one to talk to, the man from Glasgow stepped up to an Irish man who was passing and said with a smile, "I see they have to take their coats off to play the band here."

"Gosh, an' that's nothin'," replied the Irishman. "When I was in Scotland I noticed they had to take their pants off to play the bagpipes."

Jones rang the bell at the new doctor's house. The doctor's wife answered the ring.

"You wish to see the doctor?" she said. "Couldn't you come tomorrow morning?"

"Why," said Jones, "isn't the doctor in?"

"Oh, yes, he's in," said the young wife wistfully, "but you're his first patient and I'd like you to come as a surprise for him tomorrow. You see, it's his birthday."

Now and then the Editor finds in his correspondence a letter from some friend in the service containing a contribution for the Here and There column. These are appreciated as a little laughter now and then is relieved by the best of men. One of these contributions tells the story of the professor who, going up the steps of his church to conduct the service, was stopped by a stately and persnicked old lady in difficulties with her breathing.

"Pardon me," she said, "but would you do me the favour of assisting me up the steps?" "Certainly, madam," assented the rector, giving her his arm. They reached the door, when the old lady, pausing for a moment's rest, said: "Pardon me once more, but do you happen to know who is preaching this morning?" "The rector, madam," was the reply. "Oh!" she said, "then might I beg you to do me another favour?" "Certainly," replied the rector, "What else can I do for you?" "Would you," said the old lady, "be so good as to assist me down the steps again?"

Autolot (lying beside wrecked car): "Get a doctor quick!"

Scotchman: "Has the insurance agent been here?"

Autolot: "No, not yet."

Scotchman: "Move over a wee bit so I can lay down beside ye."

"Do you read the health hints?"

"For an hour, or so and almost came to blows with three argufies, each of whom had a different solution. What's yours?"

A debtor seemed really anxious to settle a $3.00 delinquent account. He had only $2.00, a crisp new two-dollar bill. He took it to a pawnbroker and pawned it for $1.50. He sold the pawn ticket to a sympathetic friend for $1.50. He then had in his jeans the much desired $3.00 and settled the bill. Who lost?

Mike: "This is a great country."

Fat man: "Don't say 'am, son. Say 'am."

Mike: "Shure, th' paper sez yez can buy a folve-dollar money order for seven cents."

The Professor: "I am going to speak on 'Iars this morning. How many of you have read the twenty-fifth chapter of the text-book?" All hands were up. "You are the very group I should address. There is no twenty-fifth chapter."

A tourist in England lunched at an old-fashioned farm one day. The ham was very good, and the son of the house passed the plate for more.

"More 'am, dad," he said.

The farmer frowned at him.

"Don't say 'am, son. Say 'am."

"I did say 'am," said the young man.

"You said 'am," roared the farmer. "Am's what it should be. 'Am, not 'am."

In the middle of the discussion the farmer's wife turned to the guest and said with an indignant little laugh:

INFLUX OF UNITED STATES MONEY PROVES RESTFUL

TORONTO—Canada, it is claimed, is just so much richer for every cent of United States money that is in circulation in this Dominion. Some days ago a story was published about Canada saving money on currency wear and tear, by letting the American money get frayed while its own crisp dollars lay in untouched heaps inside the Government vaults.

Now financiers claim that Canada is ahead in another way—it has the use of this extra money. Assume that Canada's circulation of currency is $100,000,000. If the United States currency being used in Canada totals $20,000,000, then $20,000,000 of Canadian money is thus released for Canadian projects.

Except for the counterbalancing tendency of the slight amount of Dominion of Canada money in the United States, all this money of Uncle Sam's is just so much "reveler" for Canada.

United States, by refusing to take Canadian money while Canada's receipt is unquestionably their bills and coins, thus does Canada an unmeasured amount of good, giving her the use of United States currency and permitting a good many millions of Canadian dollars to be employed for investments.

ALBERTA TO COAST TELEPHONE SERVICE IS INAUGURATED

A new inter-provincial telephone service was initiated on Tuesday last when the first telephonic conversations were carried on over the all-Canadian line between Alberta cities and those on the Pacific coast.

Previously this connection has had to be made through Couits, Great Falls, Spokane, Seattle, and thence to Vancouver, and it is expected that the new line will greatly facilitate telephonic communications between points in Alberta and the coast cities.

A THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK

- Blindly to follow the opinions of your party when in opposition to your own clear ideas, betokens a degree of servitude that no worthy man could bear the thought of submitting to.
- Edmund Burke.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO HELP ESTABLISH HIMSELF

Oliver Wright has resigned his position as janitor at the town hall, and among the applications is that of G. H. Brown.

Mr. Brown, unfortunately, since making application, has been taken ill, and had to undergo an operation at a Calgary Hospital, but it is expected he will soon be restored to good health.

Mr. Brown, is one of the Britishers that we hear so much about being needed in Canada, and since his arrival he has been one who has been willing to accept any work that offered.

This position might be the needed opportunity for him to establish himself as a good Canadian.

The Standard has nothing to say against any of the other applicants, but feels that under the circumstances that Mr. Brown's case is a special one.

ALBERTA EDUCATIONAL WEEK BEGINS DECEMBER 2

The week beginning December 2nd has been designated Educational Week, and if possible arrangements should be made to secure one outside speaker who has made a study of educational conditions in Alberta.

The people, as a whole, are far from being in touch with the matter of education, and just at this time when the Department of Education are particularly busy preparing plans to submit at the next session of the legislature, that almost amounts to a revolution, and yet a number of the ratepayers are absolutely uninformed.

It might help if the local clergymen utilized part of the time for the Sunday services on December 2nd in informing the members of their respective congregations of some of the changes that they would consider beneficial. Chairman Joseph French might be able to arrange one public meeting at least, where the local viewpoint might be expressed. The teachers who are so closely associated with actual conditions might be able to present some facts that would be exceedingly useful if forwarded through the local member of the legislature, Mr. John C. Buckley, M.L.A.

The Standard is publishing this week some of the remarks made at Hanna by the Hon. Hector Baker regarding some of the changes proposed to be made at the next session, many of which are so important that every one should be conversant, and if objectionable in any way, those objections should be presented to the members before any change is made.

The Department of Education has numerous problems to face from day to day, and a genuine attempt is being made to solve some of them. If you can help in any way, do so.

A PUBLIC DUTY AND LEGAL REQUIREMENT

The use of Tractors and Trucks is greatly increasing in this district and making further demands on the roads and bridges. The law provides that every person who uses any bridge or culvert on the public roads in connection with the movement of any portable engine or any traction engine shall lay down planks longitudinally on which to cross.

The law is seldom complied with and it is most reasonable to expect that the owners of such engines or tractors shall cross bridges and culverts slowly and carefully especially where the wheels are armed with spikes or hatchet shaped lugs. A few pieces of plank should be carried to cover any weak spots in the district or to build up the approach if necessary as when caterpillar type tractors try to mount a steep or slippery approach. In other words it is a public duty as well as a legal requirement that those using bridges and culverts on the public roads should cooperate in every way possible to protect these structures and lengthen their life. It should not be forgotten that unnecessary loss or damage of either public or private property constitutes a reduction in the total resources of the community and therefore lessens prosperity by so much.

ACTION NEEDED BY BOW VALLEY COUNCIL

The Carleton Place fire is now a matter of history, and, as usual, in such cases, real live interest in such matters soon ceases.

The conflagration brought to the attention of the ratepayers, the immediate fire risk that the municipality is carrying in the lack of proper fire protection upon valuable securities and important documents owned by M. D. Bow Valley and housed in a building that lacks proper fire protection.

Reeve Chamberlain and the Councilors have been fully cognizant of the risk for some time, and last February submitted to the ratepayers a bylaw for a very modest building, which, unfortunately, failed to secure the required vote, although a majority of votes were cast in favor of it.

At the time of the Carleton fire, the risk that is being carried was brought to the attention of the ratepayers, and considerable interest manifested, and it is hoped that a real effort will be made to build a natural defense.

The Standard is reminiscent of the time when a fire occurred in the King Edward Hotel building, that at the following meeting of the Town Council when the narrow escape of a serious conflagration was fresh in the minds of the Councilors, it would have been quite easy to have obtained an appropriation of a couple of thousand dollars for new equipment, but two weeks later the enthusiasm had waned and the chairman of the Fire and Light Committee was mighty lucky to get $750 through the estimates.

Don't let this warning pass Mr. Reeve and Councilors, without action. Explain the necessity to the ratepayers and they will pass it.
